FIRST BLOOD.

A Sanguinary Encounter in Oklahoma.

The Affray Between Boomers, Cattlemen and Indian Police.

Thousands of Settlers to Begin Their March Tonight.

Heavy Rains Make the Prospects of the Journey Through the Cherokee Strip Very Discouraging.

By Telegraph to The Times.

CHICAGO, April 17.—[By the Associated Press.] The Times's Fort Smith, Ark., special says: Four men were killed on the border of Oklahoma today. Word was received here this evening of a conflict between parties of boomers, cattlemen and Chickasaw police at a ford on the Chisholm cattle trail, 40 miles west of Oklahoma City, on the Canadian River.

The cattlemen were taking several hundred animals from Frank Colbert's ranch in the Chickasaw nation to Kansas, but the mounted police guarding the northern border of Oklahoma refused to permit them to use the celebrated Chisholm trail leading through the new Territory. A fight resulted, in which the cattlemen were reinforced by a party of boomers from Cooke and Fanning counties, Texas.

One of the guards, two cattlemen and one boomer named Geiss were killed in the melée, and some valuable horses were lost. The cattlemen took the old Abilene trail and went around through the Cheyenne reservation.

BOOMERS ON THE LINE.

The March Toward the Promised Land Begins Tonight.

CALDWELL (Kan.), April 17.—[By the Associated Press.] The Oklahoma excitement is at its height today. It is almost impossible to get along the streets, as the crowd is so dense. Five hundred wagons was the estimate placed on the arrivals today, while reports of those to come tomorrow will double the amount. Capt. Woodson of the Fifth Cavalry says he will search every outfit to make sure that there is no liquor of any description taken into Oklahoma.

A bank was organized here today by prominent capitalists, which will open for business on the 22d at Lisbon.

WELLINGTON (Kan.), April 17.—Five hundred boomer wagons passed through here for Oklahoma this morning.

THE GRAND RUSH TONIGHT.

ARKANSAS CITY (Kan.), April 17.—The announcement of Capt. Hayes, who is commanding the cavalry detached to guard the border here, that settlers will be allowed to cross the line of the Cherokee strip immediately after midnight on Thursday, created a great stir among the projectors here and it is thought that a large majority of them will take advantage of the opportunity, and midnight tomorrow will witness the grand rush into the strip. The campers realize that all cannot cross the border at the same place, and there will be a scattering along the border for miles.

A terrible wind and rain storm passed over here last night which played havoc with the boomers' tents. Women and children were drenched and badly frightened.

THE RIVERS RISING.

KANSAS CITY, April 17.—The Times's Arkansas City, Kan., special says: Reports received today from the Indian Territory state that heavy rains have fallen, and the rivers are rapidly rising. Grave fears are entertained that the progress to Oklahoma will be seriously impeded, and that the fording of the large streams will be extremely dangerous.

The Times's Caldwell (Kan.) special says: The heavy rains of last night have made the streams worse than ever, and unless they subside there will be great difficulty in reaching Lisbon, formerly Kingfisher, from here. The country here is very beautiful now, after the rains, and the Cherokee strip south of Caldwell is as good as any. It is a fertile, rolling prairie. Cattle men are not yet reconciled to the situation, and look on the settlers with ill-concealed dislike.

THE BOOMERS WILL START

all together tomorrow, with the troops in front of them. It will be a sight not often presented before in America—a thousand or more settlers marching toward homes under regulars of the War Department. The settlers here are of a remarkably good class. Most of them have comfortable outfits. Everybody seems to be for himself, rather jealous and suspicious of others than united by bonds of friendship. Some experienced frontiersmen say there will be no trouble of any sort at Lisbon, while others say it cannot be prevented.

PREPARING FOR TROUBLE.

BALTIMORE, April 17.—A Washington special to the Sun says: In anticipation of trouble in the Oklahoma country, Gen. Merritt has telegraphed the War Department for special instructions. Orders were telegraphed to Gen. Merritt, and while the nature of them was not disclosed to the press, it is believed he is authorized to exercise his own judgment.

ADVICE TO SETTLERS.

How Oklahoma Lands May Be Legally Taken Up.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—[By the Associated Press.] Commissioner Stockslager has made public a letter concerning homesteads in Oklahoma, addressed to D. D. Halstead, at Purcell, I. T. It runs thus:

"In reference to the memorandum of five questions received from you under date the 15th inst., I have to state that it is not usual to answer hypothetical questions, but in view of the anomalous conditions affecting the public lands in Oklahoma I will state, viz.:

"A person desiring to become an actual settler under the homestead laws may initiate his claim by entry at the district land office, after properly selecting and examining the land desired, in which case he is allowed six months from the date of entry within which to establish his actual residence on the land; or, if he so elect, he may

FLOWER FESTIVAL.

THE SECOND NIGHT AT HAZARD'S PAVILION.

A Vivid Description of Wilson's Peak—New Members Added to the Various Committees—An Excellent Programme Carried Out Last Night.

It is pretty generally conceded that the artistic effects at the Flower Festival this year are fine. It is different from preceding festivals, and it takes longer for the critical and the hypercritical to set in judgment. Those who pricked their fingers with thorns last year and toiled with the fragrant and refractory flowers and vines recall the glory of the past, and with sympathetic shake of the head nonchalantly affirm that the old is better than the new, just as they do in other affairs of state. There was a time, as Thackeray says, when the flowers were more gorgeous and sentiment more divine than in these tawdry days, and that was in the callow days when hearts were fresh and illusions not destroyed. But still, in spite of the carping criticisms of those who remember the other four flower festivals, one cannot help admire the absence of any confusion of ideas in the decorations and the harmony which has some way been infused into the whole thing. This opinion was only strengthened by a further inspection of the booths yesterday by a TIMES reporter. Of course the same general features presented themselves, but a large quantity of fresh flowers had been received and the decorations of the different booths had been perfected. For example, the sensuous beauty of the Alhambra booth, with its Moorish arch, had been greatly enhanced by the addition of floral features absent on the opening night. With some effort of the imagination, one could close his eyes after looking at it and have a very charming waking dream of the mystic garden, and almost see the hand reaching down to grasp the charmed key that would unlock the gates. And the quaint, dainty grace of the Whittier booth was increased during the day by the finishing touches of the demure and artistic Quakeresses in charge. A freshening up of the flowers and roses here and there produced almost a change in the entire effect. The rose banks in the center of the hall, being particularly noticeable. Mrs. Burnham's work upon these delightfully arranged horseshoes shows in the expressions of admiration showered upon them. They receive almost a continual ovation. During the day there was a pretty fair attendance, and the large number of strangers in attendance was evidenced by the brisk sales of newspapers at the newspaper booth. A large number of papers were procured in order that they might be sent East to relatives and friends.

A FLORAL MOUNT.

Prominent among the varied and tasteful designs which attract the visitor to the Flower Festival is the unique design—constructed under the superintendence of the committee of ladies, Mrs. Etta Ferry, Mrs. M. W. Copps, Mrs. John Hart and Mrs. P. T. Reed, aided by other ladies of Sierra Madre—Wilson's Peak in miniature—that lofty and imposing mountain which lifts its bold front at least 8000 feet toward the shining skies, grand, vast and majestic; a king among the mighty mother mountains.

This miniature peak is an exact duplicate of Nature's original, as far as human skill can make it. Here are the cañons cutting the mountain's sides, and fringed with tall ferns which represent the forest trees along their walls. Here the rocky watercourses, down which leap in perpetual laughter the crystal brooks and cataracts. Here the sloping shoulders of the hills, moss-covered and green with verdure. There the somber pines which look forever into the face of the mountain silences, breaking them with solemn whispers; there, bald, rock-crowned spurs, their sides and bases covered with vegetation. Here the hidden pool where the tired waters of the leaping cataract sleep beneath the blue of summer skies. Here, too, are the wild flowers blooming in brilliant beauty, and there the deep depressions among the hills, and the spurs which jut boldly from the sides of the peak. Even the narrow trail, over which so many curious feet of late have passed, is there, winding ever upward 'mid rocks and green-clad heights. It is formed of white marguerites. Over it bend the miniature trees, or drop the mountain shadows, and at its foot stands the patient burro with his rider, all as perfect as the hand of the toy-maker could fashion it. You almost look for the sweep of his tail and the motion of his long ears when he shall go meditatively forward.

How gracefully bend the ferns from the sides of the tiny peaks; how lean the long grasses, as if searching for the sunshine; how beautifully are the mountain's sides starred by its wild flowers, as if Nature herself had sown them in their places.

But what is that upon the summit, to which the white marguerite trail leads, after it has wound amid the miniature mountain sides, and threaded the crests of the cool cañons, and crept on upward under the shadow of the overhanging heights—that upon the topmost crest of the peak woven of bright blossoms, and looking so like a human habitation? From its roof waves a tiny flag, every stripe of which is formed of the small petals of the red geranium and white phlox, while the blue field of stars is made of starry-eyed wildflowers.

That is a miniature representation of the observatory built upon Wilson's Peak—the point which comes nearest to the stars. What wonders may not science yet discover with its forty-inch telescope, which is to be placed in the loneliness of this far height? How may the eye of the student and scholar rove amid the starry spheres, and catch here new glimpses of the planets and suns that fill the infinitude of space! Some of the mysteries of the heavens above as well as the earth beneath may here be solved, amid the silence of this lofty mountain top. At the base of Mt. Wilson, on its pretty rounded hilltop, stands a duplicate of "Carterhia," the mansion woven of red and white blossoms and fronted by its miniature trees. Evergreen sprays form the windows of the white tower and walls of banksia roses, and the roof is of gay garden pinks. Near by is pretty Altamont, the delight of the tourist, fashioned with pinks and geraniums, with its winding garden paths represented by the blossoming marguerites. Below, the plain is simulated by a long bed of roses, of every variety of shade and color, with a brilliant background of red geraniums. Ivy, ferns and wild flowers in variety flank the sides of the stand from which Mt. Wilson is upreared, and the whole forms one of the most artistic and beautiful designs that could be presented to the eye, and this miniature mount gives one an idea of the grandeur, the wildness of the mountain on which is to be placed the beacon light of science for Southern California.

"WHAT A VARIETY OF FLOWERS!"

One of the most frequent remarks of visitors, after the inspection of the hall is, "What a variety of flowers!" Those who have become accustomed to the infinite variety of this semi-tropic region, grow to ignore that which is so immediately observed by the strangers from the Atlantic-bound East.

During the afternoon the kindergarten children went through their exercises, and were witnessed by a throng of admiring spectators. They were only rehearsing, but every day of the festival hereafter they will go through their regular exercises every afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock with their teachers. It is hoped by the Flower Festival managers that the receipts will be sufficient to establish a kindergarten school at the Orphans' Home.

One of the toothsome features of the day was the lunch served in the dining-room in the gallery by the ladies of Stanton Relief Corps. It was in charge of the present president, Mrs. Johnson, and 35 ladies of the corps were on duty, most of them at the lunchroom. The room is gracefully decorated and has a rustic fence around it. Lunch will be served daily from 11 to 2 o'clock.

AN IMMENSE CROWD.

The brilliant success of the second night of the festival sets the fashion for succeeding nights. Before 8 o'clock last night the Pavilion was jammed with one of the most fashionable audiences that has ever assembled in the city. The floor of the hall was crowded to discomfort, and both galleries presented the appearance that a regiment does on parade, that is, the rows of spectators touched elbows, and couldn't help it. The ladies in the booths were nearly all in full evening dress. The display of the flora of Southern California in the various artistic shapes into which they had been arranged were thoroughly inspected and admired. It was about 8:30 o'clock before the exercises of the evening began, and the time before that was industriously put in, causing a ceaseless weaving to and fro of the immense crowd. The interest manifested in the display was more evidently shown by the continuous calls at the newspaper booth for papers containing descriptions of the festival than by anything else, and Mrs. Arnold and her graceful assistants had very few spare moments.

When the presentation of the Flower Queen began, there was a movement toward the stage, and while the noise was somewhat disconcerting to the performers, still the music was more distinctly heard throughout the hall than had been anticipated by Mrs. Gen. Johnson, the president. The charming picture presented on the stage was greatly enjoyed. The rendition of the music was far above the average of amateur productions. The chorus had been admirably trained, and the individual parts were all well taken. There were over 50 in the cast, and they ranged from beautiful little tots of children to blooming matrons. The leading parts were taken as follows:

PERSONIFICATIONS.

Recluse—Mr. T. E. Rowan, Jr.
Rose—Miss Jennie Winston.
Sunflower—Miss Belle P. Haralson.
Crocus—Miss Bertha E. Butler.
Dahlia—Mrs. Bessie Marshall Whiteley.
Heliotrope—Mrs. Coffee.
Lily—Miss Florence Ferry.
Dandelion—Mrs. F. E. Fanning.
Hollyhock—Mrs. J. G. Scarborough.
Japonica—Miss Kate Fleming.
Violet—Miss Nellie Carter.
Mignonette—Miss Kate C. Rider.
Touch-me-not—Mrs. F. A. Dunn.

Nightingale (flute)—Mr. W. C. McQuillan.
Heather Bells—Chorus of little girls.
Poppies—Chorus of young ladies.
Chorus of all the flowers.
Conductor—Prof. A. Wilhartitz.

The quarrel of the flowers, and the final adjustment of the matter by the triumph of those who regarded love and duty as the sure way to be happy, was musically portrayed, and the entertainment was voted a great success.

ADDITIONAL ASSISTANTS.

Yesterday some of the booths were reinforced in their staffs of handsome assistants. They are as follows: Purple booth, Miss Joe Banhoff, Miss Carrie Parker; ice cream, Miss Bessie Kinsey; bulbous flowers booth, Miss Augusta Bowen. The lemonade booth is in charge of Mesdames Cole, Pinney, Worth, and Misses Leachman, Starkey, Elsie Bosbyshell, Lynch, Peasley and Healy.

The Philharmonic booth was improved very much yesterday by the ladies in charge, and is very attractive. The ladies are Mrs. E. F. Kubel and Mrs. F. A. Day, assisted by Mesdames A. Willhartitz, Larrabe, Syndel, Payne, Wankoroski, Luther, Misses Bart, Bosbyshell, Haines, Sprindle and Thompson.

One of the most interesting booths in the hall is the registry booth. It is presided over by Mrs. C. D. Howry, assisted by Mrs. J. E. Murray, Miss Cora Matthews, Miss Mamie Immel and Miss Lena Winton. The design of the booth is an umbrella trimmed with ivy. The base of the booth is of ivy, and the center pole is twined with ivy. The decorations are of pink flowers. There is a pretty pillow of orange blossoms, and an anchor of pink geraniums; also a beautiful hanging basket of marguerites and geraniums. The registry book is that which was specially made for the Flower Festival and contains many names, the charge for registry being 25 and 10 cents.

Next Tuesday the Los Angeles orphans from the asylum have been invited to attend the festival in a body, and the children of the Catholic Orphans' Home on Thursday afternoon next. The price of admission to the festival for school children has been placed at 10 cents.

A MISTAKE.

By some mistake on the part of the managers no invitations were received by Gen. Grierson and staff to be at the opening Tuesday evening. It is to be regretted, as it is desirable that the citizens cultivate the acquaintanceship of the agreeable gentlemen on duty at headquarters of this department, in Los Angeles. No mention was made in the programme of Gen. Johnson and staff and the officers of the Seventh Regiment, who were at some trouble to be present on that occasion.

CHOKED ON CHOLER.

The alleged "editor" of the Trombone—one Boyce—was unusually furious again last night. He was mad, as usual, to see the military in gallant array on the stage, with "Smoothy" not in the list—"Smoothy," late Jigadier-Brindle, unconfirmed, and who was pitched out of the Senate in Sacramento with that unceremonious suddenness which is appropriate in the case of a fakir, fraud, pretender and person of discolored reputation generally. Despite his unseemly exhibition of childish wrath, and his inflamed jowls, like those of an enraged turkey-gobbler, the performance went on all the same. . . . "Oh-h-o-o!"

TONIGHT'S PROGRAMME.

The programme for tonight will consist of a concert by the Seventh Regiment Band. The selections will be as follows:

March, "Fur's Vaterland" (C. Franks).
Promenade, "Home, Sweet Home" (Fungl).

A SPRING-STREET BLAZE.

Fire in the Tribune Pressroom Last Night.

At about 10:30 o'clock last night a fire was discovered in the pressroom of the Tribune newspaper, at 20 and 22 North Spring street. The room is a rear basement, and about 20 feet square. A long tunnel, about 30 feet, leads from the entrance on Spring street to the place. Crowded in this space was a Scott web press, the paper-wetting machine, the stereotyping apparatus and the mailing counter. The place was in darkness when the fire broke out, and no person employed there was expected to arrive before 11 o'clock. The first intimation that anything was wrong was from seeing the smoke issue through the flooring overhead into the Fountain saloon above. The barkeeper rushed to the door leading to the front entrance to the pressroom, and that being locked he ran upstairs into the business office and cried "Fire in the pressroom." Mr. Boyce and Mr. Payne rushed down through both entrances. Payne got down first, and discovered that the flames were issuing from under the mailing-counter, which is inclosed by a wire screen. An alarm was 'phoned, and in about 10 minutes the engines and fire ladies made their appearance. The fire was making headway and four hose-pipes, streaming water, were dragged through the store and cellar. The smoke was stifling and the firemen had to back out, but in 15 minutes they got control of the fire and put it out. A TIMES reporter went through almost a foot of water to examine the place and see what damage was done. The principal damage was the burning of the woodwork and the stereotyping apparatus. The mail counter was consumed, but it could be seen where the fire started. The only damage done to the press was on the side nearest to the mailing counter. Everything was flooded with water and charred. The estimated damage will not exceed $5000, covered by insurance.

The damage to the press was such as to make it necessary that other arrangements be made for printing the paper this morning.

The Fountain saloon, owned by D. Kuck, was also insured, but the amount could not be ascertained. The store was flooded and the flooring cut through. A large orchestrion, which is valued at $3000, was considerably broken and deluged with water. The damage to the saloon will be about $1000.

The fire is believed to affect the interests of the bondsmen—Dunkelberger, Wicks et als.—who recently came forward and rescued the Tribune property from the hands of Sheriff Aguirre.

THE 'BONE CAUGHT.

The Mexican Consul Says He Was Not Interviewed.

In the mass of filibuster rot published in the Trombone yesterday was the following:

A Tribune reporter yesterday called at the office of Señor Joaquin Diaz Prieto, Mexican Consul, at No. 116 Commercial street. The Consul was at lunch. While awaiting his return the reporter noticed a copy of Monday's Tribune in one corner of the room. The two columns concerning Mulkey and his scheme were missing, having been cut from the paper. When the Consul returned he was interviewed at length. In substance he said:

"I have known Mr. Mulkey for some time. About four months ago he called upon me, representing himself as the Pacific Coast representative of the Louisville Courier-Journal. At that time I gave him at his request a card of introduction to Gov. Torres. Yesterday he came here again and asked my opinion about the story in the Tribune. Oh, yes, I read the article. My Government pays no attention to such things. Too much like a boom. Mr. Mulkey said to me there was no truth in the report; that he didn't care what the papers said about him."

"Did he laugh about the story?"

"No, he seemed anxious to know what I thought about it. I told him I guessed it was only a newspaper story. At this he appeared satisfied and went away. I think, however, Mr. Mulkey will not go to Lower California, for he might be arrested."

Mr. Mulkey, accompanied by an official as a witness, called upon the Consul yesterday evening. After the usual greetings Mr. Mulkey, pointing to the paragraph, asked if it was authorized.

"There is not a word of truth in it," replied the Consul. "On the contrary, I positively refused to be interviewed by the man Clemons, or to have anything to do with him or his sensational sheet. You are authorized by me to brand the whole matter as absolutely false."

"Would it not be best to write a card yourself?"

"I am forbidden by my Government writing such cards. I am powerless to act in matters of this kind except through the courts. In the presence of your witnesses I fully empower you to deny the statement, and, if necessary, I will go into any court and upon oath testify to its falsity."

A Musicale.

The musicale given yesterday afternoon by Prof. Willhartitz, assisted by the musical faculty of the college, was a delightful affair.

Prof. Willhartitz, in a few remarks, pointed out the particular advantages of a musical education, and then played a simple theme in the different ways in which it should have been treated by the various classical composers.

The following is the programme:

PART I.

Violin, "Fantasia Mignon"—Prof. H. E. Hamilton.
Vocal, "Una Voce Poca-fa"—Miss B. Butler.
Mandolina, "Revere, Ribalde"—Miss A. Warner.
Address on Music as an Accomplishment—Prof. A. Willhartitz.

PART II.

Piano, "Divertissonent"—Prof. A. Willhartitz.
Mandolina and Guitar, "Forget Me Not," duet—Miss Warner and Prof. De Lano.
Violin, "Nocturn," (Chopin)—Prof. H. E. Hamilton.
Guitar, "Cavalier Quickstep," by Prof. De Lano—Played by Prof. De Lano.
Vocal, with violin obligato, "April Rose"—Miss Butler and Prof. Hamilton.

POLICE MATTERS.

MAJ. FURREY BURNS THE BRETHREN UP IN GOOD SHAPE.

The New Member Makes All Kinds of Promises and Takes His Seat—A Batch of Small Matters Passed Upon—All Quiet in Camp.

There was a general air of expectancy in the region of the Mayor's office yesterday, and the hour for the meeting of the Police Commission was anxiously awaited, as it was confidently expected that there would be a circus. The reporters were on hand early, prepared to do the occasion full justice, and Clerk Robinson, with the prudence and foresight which comes with years, raised the window and moved his chair so that he could easily reach the fire-escape in case the atmosphere became too sultry for comfort. Mr. Lindley was first to arrive, smiling and contented over his success in capturing the Reform School for Whittier, and made himself agreeable by passing around cigars among the reportorial fraternity. Mr. Dexter, the new member, came in next, and was followed in a few seconds by Mr. Bilderrain, when there was a general hand-shaking, after which the gentlemen took their seats. There was a wait for about five minutes, when Mayor Hazard, Maj. Furrey and Mr. Knox came in a bunch. Maj. Furrey declined to take a seat, and with a remark to the effect that something must be in the wind to account for the prompt attendance, Mayor Hazard took his usual place at the head of the table and called the meeting to order.

Maj. Furrey then addressed the board, saying that he had merely come up to bid his colleagues, Messrs. Hazard and Bilderrain, farewell. After mature consideration, he had come to the conclusion that life was too short to make a fight for a worthless position, which he had never sought in the first place. Since he had been a member of the board, however, he had done his whole duty, as he understood

TAN PLAYERS.

FRED SMITH'S PLAYERS APPEAR IN COURT.

They Are Forced to Put Up Heavy Bail—Bonds Secured for the Head Men—A Queer Way of Getting at Chinese Property.

The courtroom of the City Justices' Court was crowded to overflowing with the "peculiar heathen Chinee" yesterday. The odor, or rather stench, was almost unbearable, that emanated from the lawless gang. Windows and doors were thrown wide open to allow the thick atmosphere to escape. His Honor was in a happy mood notwithstanding the heap of work that was before him. The clerk was happy in the thought that he would have to write out the bond papers for 59 Chinese lawbreakers. Constable Fred Smith was aiding the Chinese interpreter in picking out the prisoners as their names were called. After some delay the proper names were ascertained, and one after the other was arraigned up to 18. They pleaded not guilty and each was placed under $25 cash bail, which was immediately furnished by the big-pursed, boodle Chinese present. The next to be arraigned were the keepers and dealers of the games. Their names are Fong Hing, Mock Ching, Tie Yen and Yee Shen. After pleading not guilty Justice Lockwood placed them under $300 bail apiece.

Ah Mow and Lung Lie offered themselves as bondsmen. They were about prepared to sign the bond, when District Attorney Kelly meekly interposed an objection, and requested His Honor that it would be a good idea to examine them as to their qualifications to act as sureties. Mr. Kelly questioned Ah Mow, who is a fat and prosperous looking Mongol, as follows:

"How much money are you worth?"

Ah Mow speaks fair pigeon English. He answered:

"Slomhow about 8000 or 9000 dlolah."

"Of what does this consist?"

"Tyater; Chinee Tyater."

"Own it all alone?"

"No; nother mlan kleep hlaf."

"So you are worth only about $4000?"

"Yles" (laughing knowingly).

"Are you on any other bonds?"

"Yes, slir (scaring somewhat).

"How much?" asked Mr. Kelly.

"O, ablout eight hunded dlolah" (assuredly).

"I guess he'll pass," said the District Attorney, laughing.

Lung Lie, the other bondsman, was very shabbily dressed—not as if he was a prosperous merchant, but more like a coolie workman. He was asked questions similar to those asked Ah Mow. He claimed that he owned a building valued at $18,000 on Los Angeles street.

"Do you own it all?"

Lung Lie could not understand this question right away, and the interpreter made him understand it better. He said he had a title to but one quarter, valued about $4000.

"Where is it?"

He could not answer this directly, but thought about it and said the number was 48. There were several stores next to it.

"Well, I guess he is all right," said Mr. Kelly and Lung Lie was passed. His Honor stated (smiling when he did so) that he thought they were the best Chinese here.

"It is usual before bondsmen are accepted," said a lawyer to the TIMES reporter "to cross-examine them thoroughly before they are accepted. The questions asked are simple but to the point, in this form, for instance: 'How much are you worth?' 'Where is your property?' if real estate. 'How much is it worth?' 'Is there any mortgage on it?' 'How much?' and questions in that line. Then the records are looked up to verify the claims made by the sureties, and if everything is O.K. they are accepted. Mr. Kelly did not verify the Chinese statements, nor inquired if any mortgage was on the property."

The balance of the Chinese arrested will be arraigned today.

West End Board of Trade.

The West End Board of Trade held its regular meeting last evening. The committee appointed to investigate the status of reservoir No. 4, reported that it had carefully investigated the matter, and believed that the proposition of the owners of the Montana tract should be accepted. The committee was instructed to use its influence and persuasion with the Council to accept the proposition, when again presented to the Council.

The Committee on Change of Grade of Temple street rendered a report advising agitating the question, and presented a petition to the Council in compliance with its wishes, which was unanimously signed, and a committee appointed to further circulate the petition.

A New Church.

The congregation of the M. E. University in the West End has divided itself into factions; one wishes to erect a new church in the neighborhood between Main street and Grand avenue, and the other wishes to rule, religiously and politically, the West End. Three boys, sons of one faction, were ejected from the church during services, and on Tuesday it was rumored that charges were to be made against a prominent member to the effect that he is not morally fit to belong to the church. Mr. Robinson and Mr. Little, two other members, had a dispute and came to blows about church affairs. Their case will come to trial in Justice Savage's court on the 20th of this month.

Lindley Gets a Reception.

The Greenleaf Hotel people at Whittier gave Hervey Lindley a reception last night. Mr. Lindley and a few of his friends left on the 4:30 train last night for the seat of war, accompanied by a brass band. The people of Whittier, on the arrival of J. M. Damron, J. Simms and Hervey Lindley, commissioners, met them at the depot and escorted them with a brass band to the Greenleaf Hotel, where speeches were made by the Hon. W. L. Doty and J. M. Damron at the banquet tendered the commission.

Pullman Passengers.

The following Pullman passengers left on the San Francisco trains yesterday: J. D. Kennedy, C. Harding, R. B. Hogan, Mrs. C. R. Ross, Mrs. Henry, Mrs. Tucker, S. O. Houghton, H. C. Dibble, Mrs. Miller, S. Goodman, A. H. Brown, Mrs. Chase, H. L. Pilkington, W. S. Hull, C. F. Weatherham, E. L. Campbell, Mrs. Briggs, W. J. Ponnett, Lord Chesterfield, R. Wood, W. H. Bayley, Mrs. Wallingford, H. Walter, Mrs. J. R. Deblino, W. B. Stone, J. Chislet.

DONEGAN'S MISTAKE.

He Tears Up Street Paving and Is Liable to Get in Trouble.

Contractor D. F. Donegan has apparently got himself into a rather ugly scrape. Some time ago Mr. Donegan graded portions of San Francisco and Upper Main streets by private contract, and in due course of time they were turned over and duly accepted by the city. The property-holders along the streets have been very backward in paying up their assessments, which has caused the contractor a great deal of annoyance, and Tuesday Mr. Donegan, apparently overlooking the fact that the streets were now the property of the city, tore up some 82 feet of the curbing, which he loaded on a wagon and hauled away, leaving word that he would take up the rest of it yesterday. Street Superintendent Morford was notified of Mr. Donegan's action, and had a man on the spot to see that the street was not molested. Yesterday afternoon he reported the fact to President of the Council Frankenfield, and asked that he bring it up in the Council next Monday. Mr. Frankenfield told him that this was not necessary, and sent him at once to the City Attorney for instructions. On hearing the facts, the City Attorney instructed Mr. Morford to go at once to the District Attorney and swear out a complaint against Mr. Donegan, charging him with making away with the city's property, and have him arrested. Mr. Morford notified the District Attorney, and will this morning get the complaint. Mr. Donegan's friends do not understand how he came to make such a blunder, as he is a shrewd business man and well posted in the law, but if the facts are as alleged, he has certainly made a very bad break.

GAVE HIMSELF AWAY.

How Officer Lenox Captured a Thief.

Last evening about 6 o'clock, just as Police Officer Lenox, who resides on East Tenth street, was finishing his dinner, he heard a knock at his door, and on opening it found a man somewhat under the influence of liquor standing on the porch. The man said that he had a lawn mower for sale, and as he was just introducing them he would sell it cheap, in fact at just one-half the regular retail price, $5. The officer examined the machine, and on seeing that it was perfectly new, concluded that it had been stolen, and asked the man where his place was located. The fellow said on Los Angeles street, and the officer suggested that they go up, as he wanted a mower, but the one he had for sale was not large enough. The man saw that he was trapped, but consented to go along, and the two came up together. No break was made until the corner of Los Angeles and Commercial street was reached, when the thief took a sudden shoot up toward Main street. The officer gave chase, and followed him up to Main street, when he turned south, and dashed down Requena. Quite a crowd had been attracted by the noise, and as the thief turned into Requena street, Officer Joe del Valle joined in the pursuit, and overhauled him at the corner of Los Angeles. He was then brought to the police station, where he gave the name of Dan Mullins, and was locked up, charged with larceny.

PERSONAL NEWS.

George S. Norfolk, private secretary to E. St. John of the Rock Island road, is in the city and is registered at the Nadeau.

J. C. Combs, superintendent of the Rock Island at Oskaloosa, and wife arrived on a special yesterday.

A Mysterious Arrest.

Last night a rather mysterious arrest was made by the police. A neatly-dressed, smooth-faced young man was brought in by Detective Glass and taken into the Chief's private office, where he was questioned at considerable length, after which he was locked up for the night. He was not booked on the register in the outer office, and when an attempt was made to get his name later on he said that the authorities had promised that the reporters should not have it, on account of his family. Just what the arrest was made for cannot be stated, but it is surmised that there is some defalcation about it. The mystery will probably be solved today.

They Want Information.

The Woman Suffrage Association met Tuesday afternoon. The president delivered quite an interesting address, in which she urged the justness of the equalization of women with men before the law. Dr. Julia W. Urmy read a sketch of the famous negress, Sojourner Truth. The TIMES report of City Council affairs was read, and discussed. The members wished to know why an honorable man was removed from office.

HARRIET SMITH.

She Fancies Fine Dresses and Is Convicted of Burglary.

Harriet Smith, charged with burglary, made a very unique defense in Judge Cheney's court yesterday, and were it not for the most convincing proof brought out by the prosecution to the jury, she possibly would have been acquitted.

It appears that Harriet Smith was lodging in a house kept by Mrs. Hildreth, at 222 West First street. In the same house Mrs. Fish, the complainant, roomed. The locks on all the doors are of the same pattern, and one key will open all the doors. Mrs. Fish missed several garments, among which were a corset, a ball dress and some ribbons. No one in the house was suspected, but one day while out walking Mrs. Fish saw the defendant on the street with a blue ribbon around her neck similar to one that was stolen from her. When Harriet came home Mrs. Fish and the landlady went into her room and accused her of stealing the garments. She confessed the crime and the dress and corset were found in the room.

On the stand she swore that Mrs. Fish occupied the room before she did and when Mrs. Fish moved to another room she left the clothes there. Mrs. Fish could not say no to this immediately, but a happy idea struck the Prosecuting Attorney. He asked Mrs. Fish when she bought the dress and it was proven that the dress was bought after she moved. The jury in a short time brought in a verdict of guilty of burglary in the second degree. Judge Cheney appointed Monday for sentence.

BRIG.-GEN. K. DAWSON, U. S. A., retired, died at Orange, N. J., yesterday.

THE Connecticut Legislature has rejected the bill substituting electricity for hanging.

THE rumor is that President Strong will be retired from the directory of the Atchison road.

PALMYRA, NEB., is short of Bibles, and a local newspaper, a few days ago, published the Ten Commandments "by request."

THE report that there is coolness between the President and those Senators who voted to reject the nomination of Mr. Halstead is contradicted.

A FLOWER show in Los Angeles is very fitting and appropriate. Los Angeles is the home of flowers, and almost any one of her streets furnishes a perennial show.

As we recently noticed, Senator Sherman will sail for Europe on May 1st. He goes simply for rest and pleasure, and does not know just when he will return.

CINCINNATIANS think they are about as near heaven as they will get before they die. Beer has fallen in that city to two cents a glass, or three glasses for five cents.

RUSSELL HARRISON denies that he aspires to the Montana Senatorship, and said that his recent newspaper contract provided expressly that he should not go into politics.

WARD MCALLISTER, not content with resigning the management, has now also resigned the membership of the Entertainment Committee of the Centennial celebration. This is truly awful!

WARRANTS have been issued for the arrest of 60 members of the Boulangist party. It is a question whether the French Government is not making a grave mistake, in giving so much importance to this fakir and his followers.

THE manner in which the 'Bofie keeps writhing and squirming under the neat exposure by THE TIMES of its Lower California filibustering "fill" is amusing in the highest degree—almost as much so, in fact, as its curious, not to say idiotic, corner cards.

FOREIGNERS continue to pour into the United States at a tremendous rate. Six thousand embarked on seven steamships at Liverpool yesterday. If measures are to be passed restrictive of immigration, a commencement should be made, without further delay.

JAPAN is forging ahead. It is said that a Japanese line of steamers will shortly run to the Pacific Coast in opposition to the Pacific Mail. Agents have been appointed to make arrangements with the various republics, and are already in possession of several concessions.

IF anyone noticed any extra sultriness in the weather yesterday, it may be attributed to the sudden impact on this city of so heavy a body as Vanderbilt's son-in-law, with his traveling swimming bath and sixteen servants. We got off cheap with a raise of fifteen degrees in the temperature.

THE possibilities of fancy dairying may be judged of from the fact that the butter made at a Massachusetts farm sells at retail for 80 cents a pound, about 50 pounds of this superior product being made each week. Nine pure-bred Jerseys furnish the milk, and they are, of course, very carefully fed.

THE San Francisco Bulletin calls attention to several features of material progress which mark the decade from 1880 to 1890, now drawing to a close. Among other things are mentioned the adoption of electricity as a motor and illuminating agent; the development of the raisin industry of the State; the use of steel for rails, and a wonderful advance in the science of gunnery.

THE SAN FRANCISCO POLICE COMMISSIONERS.

The Police Commissioners of San Francisco are agitated by a question somewhat similar to that which at present interests the Los Angeles board. An attempt has been made by the San Francisco Supervisors to reorganize the Fire Commission, and it is generally understood that the Police Commission will be the next municipal organization assailed by the Supervisors, who are popularly supposed to be doing the bidding of the Democratic Boss. It seems that the commission does not intend to give in without a fight. Maj. Hammond, president of the commission, said the other day to a reporter:

"The public may rest assured that the Police Commissioners will not permit any reorganization without a decision of the Supreme Court upon the subject. If it is the law that we shall retire, we will submit—that will be an end of it. But we will take all proper steps to reach a legal determination of the matter. Undoubtedly the ordinance relating to the Fire Commission was directed against us. No sane man can for a moment misunderstand the position. I would not believe them under oath if they said they said they had no such intention. The assault on the Fire Department was an entering wedge. The public would probably have commented more severely had the attack been made against the Police Commission direct. Everybody knows that Buckley controlled the Fire Commission before. There was no need of any changes there. For years they have been trying to get the Police Commission. They have made attacks of various kinds and brought many suits without avail. I was removed for an appointee of Gov. Stoneman, but the Supreme Court decided in my favor. We have asked various things of the Supervisors to improve the department, but it has been of no use, just because they could not control the department. We have asked for electric lights in Chinatown, which would tend to much decrease crime; we have asked for patrol wagons that are used in Oakland and in many Eastern cities; we have asked for an attorney for the Chief, but it has all been of no use, just because they cannot control the department."

TICKET SCALPING.

The question of ticket scalping is one which has long worried the railroads, and which will probably continue to do so for some time to come. Many remedies have been suggested, but none have yet made to stick. A bill is pending in the Michigan Legislature designed to abolish ticket brokerage and limit the sale of railway tickets to the authorized agents of the owners of railroads. In speaking of what it is desired to accomplish by the proposed law, President Ledyard of the Michigan Central recently referred at length to the evils now connected with ticket scalping. Among other things he said:

There is no cause more fruitful of dishonesty among railroad employés than the facilities offered by the offices of the ticket scalpers. The conductors, on taking up tickets from passengers, are required to punch them in order to show that the tickets are no longer in use for transportation. But they can fail to punch them and then they can sell them to scalpers. On the part of the sleeping-car employés the same trouble obtains. I have discharged a large number of men for this species of dishonesty. Another source of manipulation is the 1000-mile tickets. For a limited rate of fare the purchaser agrees to use the ticket within a limited time. The ticket is made non-transferrable, the purchaser signing the contract. There are cases where such tickets have been sold to scalpers when partially used, and then, with the names changed, have been presented for passage. In Chicago, there is $30,000 worth of mileage tickets in the hands of scalpers today. We have had tickets sold by brokers presented for passage which were counterfeited entirely, purporting to be issued by some Western road and bearing what purported to be the signature of the general passenger agent of the road. When we reported back the coupons taken up, we were advised that not one of them were issued by the company."

WHO SHALL PRACTICE MEDICINE?

At the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Homeopathic Medical Society, which convened last week in Boston, Dr. I. T. Talbot made a speech on the subject of the regulation of the practice of medicine, which contained many remarks worthy of close consideration. In the course of his speech he said:

In fact, there is no profession in which restraining laws are so out of place as in that of medicine. Shall the law restrain, with fines and imprisonment, the mother from seeking such means as she believes will cure her dying child, no matter whether it be the faith cure, the "laying on of hands," a drop of aconite or a dose of rhubarb? Do we, with all our knowledge, know that such means will not cure in a given case? Are all psychical and therapeutical agencies so well understood that we can invariably say what will and what will not cure? If we have not this positive knowledge, shall we forbid to others to use what they think will cure them? The old and obnoxious sumptuary laws which undertook to regulate what should be eaten and what drank, and how persons should spend their money, were as nothing compared with a law which shall say what physicians or what means we shall or shall not employ when we are sick to help us to recovery. Any law which thus interferes with individual freedom of thought and action is contrary to the dearest principles of American liberty and is subversive of our rights as citizens.

Dr. Talbot does not propose to remove all control of the medical profession, but would permit all to practice, only forbidding the assumption of medical titles by those who have no right to them.

AN OMINOUS SILENCE.

The citizens of Los Angeles are still awaiting from Messrs. Frankenfield, Shafer, Hamilton, Brown, Summerland, Van Duzen and McLain a statement of the reasons which induced them to summarily remove Maj. Furrey from the Board of Police Commissioners. Maj. Furrey, on his side, was very prompt, and not at all indefinite, in his statement regarding the reasons for his removal. The onus is now upon the seven Councilmen to explain. Certainly, if those seven gentlemen have any future political aspirations in this county—nay, more, if they value the respect of their fellow-citizens—they will not remain silent one day longer, under the grave imputations which Maj. Furrey, a reputable and respected citizen, casts upon them, in which charges he is fully sustained by the present Mayor of the city.

Remarks have been made to the effect that Maj. Furrey's reputation is at stake. This is inaccurate. It is not the reputation of Maj. Furrey which is at stake, but that of Messrs. Frankenfield, Shafer, Hamilton, Brown, Summerland, Van Duzen and McLain.

FOLLOWING up our remarks on the growing danger to this country from the consumption of narcotics, we are glad to notice a step in advance made in San Francisco. The foreman of the Grand Jury of that city filed with the Supervisors on Saturday a copy of the new ordinance for the suppression of the opium, morphine and cocoaine vice, which has been indorsed by that body, accompanied by a letter asking the board to pass it. The ordinance provides that it shall be unlawful for any druggist to sell, barter, exchange, give away, dispose of or deliver to any person any person any opium, morphine or cocoaine except upon a written prescription of a practicing physician and except upon the day of its date, and for each sale or gift there shall be a separate and distinct prescription. Every druggist is required to keep a book in which all sales are to be recorded, together with the date and time of sale, etc.; the name, age, sex, color and residence of the person receiving the drug. All prescriptions must be in ink. The forgery of a prescription is made a misdemeanor. It is also made unlawful for any physician to give a prescription for any of these drugs except for bona fide medicinal purposes. All violations of the proposed ordinance will be punishable by a fine not exceeding $500, or by imprisonment not exceeding six months.

MRS. FANNIE BRIGHAM WARD, the well-known newspaper correspondent, formerly a foreign writer for THE TIMES, who for the past five years has been devoting her pen exclusively to Mexico and Central America, recently came up from Lower California, spent some days in Los Angeles and Pasadena, and is now stopping in Santa Barbara, pending her early return to her home in Ohio. Besides a large syndicate of newspapers, to which Mrs. Ward sends weekly letters, she is a special correspondent of the New York Sun, Philadelphia Record and Detroit Commercial Advertiser. She visited the peninsula in the interest of her newspaper work, and also of her forthcoming book on Mexico, which Rand & McNally of Chicago are about to publish. Mrs. Ward has a second book on Mexico, dealing chiefly with Mexican home-life, domestic customs, etc., in the hands of Alden, the New York publisher. She is accompanied on her journey by her young daughter, who is also her stenographer and secretary.

A BED-RIDDEN patient in the Chicago Home for Incurables, suffering acutely from a painful disease, was recently brutally bruised, his eyes blacked and his tongue cut by the attendants, who were in the habit of striking him with their fists, to prevent him from groaning when suffering from paroxysms of pain. Such glimpses as this of a hell upon earth, which one occasionally gets, lead one to doubt whether humanity has much improved, after all, morally, and whether the difference between the man of the nineteeth century and the man of the dark ages is not merely one of surface polish and knowledge of material things—whether, in fact, we have not been educating the head at the expense of the heart.

SAYS the St. Louis Republic, a Democratic paper:

There is a large element of influential men in many of the Southern States who want "a change," if for no other reason than that they have been so long without one. The President can do a great deal to take this element into the Republican party if he will give the Republican party in the South a chance to be respectable.

THE comparative quiet of the Emperor of Germany during the past few months is said to be caused by his chronic ear ailment.

AMUSEMENTS.

LOS ANGELES THEATER—Mme. Janauschek closed her engagement last night as the terrific old gypsy, Meg Merilies. Mme. Janauschek, though of undoubted power and high reputation, has played to miserably small houses, which goes to prove that in the rush and haste of everyday modern life, it is amusement, not mental food, that the public crave. People will no longer largely patronize even Shakesperian plays unless they are gorgeously mounted and interpreted by a galaxy of stars.

LITTLE LORD FAUNTLEROY.—The sale of seats for His Little Lordship commences at the box-office of the Grand Opera-house this morning at 10 o'clock, and, judging from the way the public has interested itself in the coming production of this wonderful play, the demand for seats will be very lively. The run of the play is positively limited to six nights, commencing Monday next and a Wednesday and Saturday matinée.

The company brings two "Little Lord Fauntleroys" with it, Wallie Eddinger and Flossie Ethyl, the first of whom will appear in the part on the opening night.

The San Francisco Chronicle says: "'Little Lord Fauntleroy' is, in the daintiness of the conception of the child's part, the purity of the sentiment involved in the story, the treatment of a child's character full of the best impulses, carried out without a line of sentimentality and without at any point traveling outside of the bounds of even probability, the most charming addition to stage literature it has had in years."

Before Judge Shaw.

Judge Shaw, in Superior Court Department No. 5, rendered judgment in favor of James Fleming against L. W. Dennis for $50, yesterday. His Honor also declared a decree of foreclosure and sale, signed and filed in open court, yesterday, in the case of John B. Baskin vs. Charlotte E. Smith.

The trial of Schallert G. L. Company vs. G. W. Kintz was on all yesterday afternoon, but His Honor postponed the case till today, when a decision would be rendered.

A Queer Youth.

Benoit Giboulin, who a few evenings ago broke one of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s windows by throwing a dollar piece through it, was up for examination yesterday in Superior Court Department 2 yesterday. Drs. Wernigk and W. G. Cochran were the commissioners. Giboulin said that he was drinking a great deal of absinthe in the daytime and various other liquors at night, which caused him to act insanely. After a good reprimand he was discharged by Judge Clark.

Library Trustees.

Yesterday afternoon the library trustees held a meeting. There were present Messrs. Dobinson, Howard, Jones, Hanchette and Davies.

A letter was read from Prof. Dietz referring to the need of a French reference library. President Dobinson and Mr. Howard were appointed a committee to secure donations of French books. The report of the committee on revision of list of newspapers and periodicals was adopted, and the librarian notified to make such changes in the list prior to the removal of the library as may be deemed expedient. An invitation to meet the Building Committee at the City Hall at 2 o'clock p.m. today, to investigate plans of fixtures for the new library rooms, was accepted. The board then adjourned to meet at the office of the president next Wednesday at 9 a.m.

A Prize-fighter.

William O'Neil, a prize-fighter, who recently came up from San Diego, got on a spree yesterday morning, and between 5 and 6 o'clock, knocked down and kicked another tough, named Joe Burns, cutting his face in several places. He was arrested by Officer Miller, and taken to the station, where he was charged with fighting. Later in the day he was taken before Justice Stanton, and fined five days' imprisonment. Burns was paralyzed drunk at the time the assault was committed.

A Lost Child.

Toats Barnes, a lost child, was picked up at the corner of Los Angeles and Second streets yesterday afternoon about 1:30 o'clock. The police station was telephoned, and Officer Bob Fowler brought the youngster in, where he was made comfortable.

Old and Drunk.

Last night between 7 and 8 o'clock an old woman was brought in from Los Angeles street either drunk or crazy. She was given the benefit of the doubt and booked as Jane Doe, drunk. Her personal effects, consisting of a large bundle, was also brought along.

Wanted to Be Locked Up.

Fred Grath came to the police station early yesterday morning and asked to be locked up, as he was unable to navigate. He was accommodated, and as soon as he felt that he could take care of himself he was released.

EXECUTIVE CORPUS.

A SAN FRANCISCO CORONER WANTS WATERMAN.

The Dead Stone and a Big Knife Waiting for His Excellency—Why the Coroner Wants His Dead Body—An Inquest "What Will be an Inquest."

The accidental Governor of this State has made enemies enough to keep him in hot water during the balance of his natural life. The latest story on His Excellency comes from the Chronicle of the 16th inst., and reads as follows:

Coroner Taylor keeps a little list of persons against whom he has grievances. At the head of the list is the name of "R. W. Waterman, Governor of California," and under it are several heavy black lines, to denote the fact that the Coroner's grievance against the Governor is not of the ordinary kind.

"I am only waiting for a chance to hold an autopsy on the remains of Waterman," said the Coroner yesterday, with a cold glitter in his clear, gray eyes, "and until I have carved his corpse into steaks I shall never know true happiness."

Coroner Taylor had introduced into the last Legislature a bill authorizing him to employ a clerk and a stenographer. The bill passed both houses almost unanimously, but when it reached the Governor he slid it into his capacious pocket and kept it there. Hence the Coroner's extreme anxiety to operate upon the gubernatorial remains and slice the executive stomach with the official lancet.

"I feel that if my term of office expires without my having had a hack at his cold and clammy flesh, my cup of joy will have been dashed to earth," continued the official sadly, "but I have a sort of premonition that I will not be disappointed. I feel it in my bones that he will die in this city under circumstances warranting an autopsy. If he does peg out within my jurisdiction you may lay your last copper that the autopsy will be held whether the circumstances are present or not.

"And after the autopsy the inquest. Oh, the joy, the bliss of the inquest! To think that I shall bring in a jury of my intelligent fellow-citizens and gleefully introduce them to all that remains of our late lamented but not dearly beloved Governor. And then the evidence! We shall revel in the details of impossible-to-be-entirely taking-off, and gloat with ghoulish glee over all the little details of his last great journey. Without a stenographer it now takes about four hours to write down the evidence at ordinary inquests. In the case of Gov. Waterman, I will prolong the sitting on him to about eight hours, just to let him see how it feels.

"If he does not come my way during my present term of office, I will get elected again, and continue doing so until I have had my revenge. I do not know of any enemy upon whom I would more cheerfully hold an autopsy than upon Waterman."

An Unwritten Will Held Good.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—In Judge Lawler's court today William Jellings was awarded $24,800 left to him by Charles Freeman, his old partner. Freeman left no will, but several witnesses testified that he frequently said he intended to leave Jellings the money. A nurse testified that a few hours before his death the deceased handed him the keys to a box in the Safe Deposit and said: "I want Billy Jellings to have all I leave." On the strength of this unwritten will the Judge awarded Jellings the entire property.

Indians Illegally Sentenced.

TUCSON, (Ariz.), April 17.—The decision of the United States Supreme Court, granting a writ of habeas corpus for Gon Shaynee, the Apache Indian sentenced to be hanged, has caused much concern here, as the ruling decides that the Territorial courts have sole jurisdiction of all offenses committed by Indians. There are 22 Indians serving sentences in eastern prisons, sentenced by United States District Courts. All will have to be returned and tried by Territorial courts.

An Old-time Fireman Dead.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—Chief Engineer James Moffit of the Oakland fire department died at his residence in Oakland this morning from heart trouble. In 1851 he joined the volunteer fire department of San Francisco, and has been connected with the one department or the other ever since. The Situation at St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Opening of the American Association Base-ball Season.

The Standard Oil Company's Big Ohio Deal Consummated.

Prince Inaugurated as Governor of New Mexico—The Territory Well Pleased with the President's Selection.

By Telegraph to The Times.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 17.—[By the Associated Press.] Cars were started on several lines of street railway at 6 a.m. They were followed by large crowds who hooted at the drivers and attendant policemen.

The cars started with 75 men, but up to noon one-third of these had been persuaded be the strikers to quit. A serious disturbance occurred soon after noon at Washington avenue and Seventh avenue. A south car on the Bloomington line reached a point where it was found the switch had been spiked. A big crowd gathered and stones began to fly. Several hit the driver, who unhitched the horses and abandoned the car. Mounted police charged the crowd. Eleven men were arrested.

Although the street-car company succeeded in running some cars over most of the lines in the city today, the strike is not by any means over. There were several brushes between strikers and their sympathizers and the police. The mob on Washington avenue was the hardest to handle, that would be scattered in one place to gather in another. Many arrests were made.

An attempt to effect a settlement between the company and strikers this afternoon was a failure. The police fear serious trouble tonight. To guard against it as much as possible, the Chief of Police has ordered that no cars be run after 6 o'clock.

ST. PAUL (Minn.), April 17.—The car strike situation is unchanged here today. An attempt to start cars will be made in the morning.

THE SUGAR TRUST.

Its Members Engineering a Gigantic Corner.

NEW YORK, April 17.—[By the Associated Press.] There is a flurry among the sugar-trust people. There may be a sugar famine. Somebody has been buying a good deal of sugar lately. Whispering and consultations are going on among the sugar kings, and have been occasioned by the entirely unprecedented state of the raw sugar stock in the hands of importers and agents. This country has only about 14,000 tons against 110,000 tons at the corresponding period last year. Somebody is buying up sugar in England, and somebody bought up in this city since last Saturday 28,000 tons of the 40,000 tons on hand. Whoever these somebodies are, sugar-trust certificates have been going up significantly.

Monday of last week certificates sold for 84¼, with light demand. Wednesday, when the new deal was supposed to have been brought about, there was an active demand, and the price went up to 85. Thursday the price was 89¾. Friday it jumped to 99¼. Since then the price hovered between 96 and 98. Raw sugar, April 1st, was only 5⅝ cents a pound. Saturday last it was 7 cents, and the tendency is still upward. Beet sugar is also going up.

Commenting on the break-up of the sugar trust, and substitution of a scheme to assign properties to individuals, the Herald says: "Important developments are expected from a suit shortly to be brought by the Attorney-General against the Havemeyers and Elders Company. It is understood an effort will be made to discover who are the 'boss' assignees. For it is claimed the assignment move is illegal if taken to defeat the ends of justice or block investigation into the trust business."

LONDON, April 17.—Sugar opened 6d lower, but soon advanced 2s. The market is excited. It is reported continental buyers are purchasing for American account.

DOWN GO THE WIRES.

New York Still in Darkness—Electric-light Men in Despair.

NEW YORK, April 17.—[By the Associated Press.] The wires came down with a swish and rush upon the cobblestones on Broadway this morning. In every direction, as far as the eye could reach, were gangs of men hacking and cutting. The contractors had their hands full keeping venturesome pedestrians and drivers of vehicles from being crushed under the falling poles. The Brush Company and United States Electric Light Company have at last awakened to the fact that the Mayor means business, and it dawned upon them today that miles upon miles of fine copper wire were worth saving. They will strip everything along the proposed route of destruction. They have already taken down about 60 poles and several miles of wire.

At the offices of the different companies this morning, everybody looked glum. At the United States office they predict that electric lighting has received its death blow. It costs $300 to stretch a mile of wire overhead, they said. It will now cost $3000 to lay a mile under ground. In addition to this, the company has to make its own connections from subways to houses, a separate one to each building. They think the increased charge necessitated by the heavy outlay will make it hard to compete with the gas companies.

Tonight the upper portion of the city, from Fourteenth street to Fifty-ninth street, is still shrouded in darkness on account of Mayor Grant's war on the overhead wires. Fifth avenue was entirely black, from Twenty-eighth to Fifty-ninth streets. In Broadway, from Fourteenth to Twenty-ninth, and also the principal crosstown streets in that district, there are a few gaslights burning.

INAUGURATED.

Prince Installed as Governor of New Mexico.

SANTA FE (N. M.), April 17.—[By the Associated Press.] New Mexico's newly-appointed Governor, L. Bradford Prince, former Chief Justice of the Territory, and whose home is in this city, arrived from Washington at noon today. He was met at the depot by fully 5000 citizens, representing leading men from every section of the Territory. A procession was formed, which marched to the Capitol, and the Governor was inaugurated amid imposing ceremonies.

Ex-Gov. Axtell delivered a welcoming address, frequently referring to the new era which the appointment of Gov. Prince was expected to open up for New Mexico.

The Governor responded. He spoke of the undeveloped resources of the Territory, and urged the people to continue their demand for admission as a State.

Gov. Ross, whom Gov. Prince succeeds, was present at the inauguration and took part in making it a success. General satisfaction is expressed throughout the Territory over the appointment of Prince.

THE DEAL COMPLETED.

The Standard Company Acquires the Lima Oil Fields.

PITTSBURGH, April 17.—[By the Associated Press.] A special from Lima, O., says: The Standard Oil Company today closed the deal whereby they become possessors of a majority of the stock of the Ohio Oil Company. This gives them control of the Lima field. The Ohio Company is composed of an association of the producers in this field. Their leases covered 15,000 acres, with a daily production of 5000 barrels of oil. A considerable portion of the territory is yet undeveloped. The price paid for the stock is said to range from 50 to 75 cents.

C. F. Lufkin conducted the business for the Standard Company. They have a large force of men engaged in enlarging their refinery grounds here with the intention of making the Solar works the greatest refinery in this country.

RAILWAY COMPLICATIONS.

The Oregon Navigation Lease Again Causing Trouble.

NEW YORK, April 17.—[By the Associated Press.] A sharp decline in the price of Oregon Railway and Navigation at the Stock Exchange yesterday and Monday led to a suspicion that there was some manipulation being directed against that property. The origin of the rumor is said to be in the unsettled relations of the Northern Pacific and Union Pacific in regard to the lease of the Oregon Navigation by the Oregon Short Line. It is generally believed that when the lease was made the Union Pacific expected the Northern Pacific would assume a joint liability. Negotiations in this direction never reached completion. They are believed to be delayed by the hostile attitude of two directors of the Northern Pacific, who are creditors, with a desire to secure a reduction in the rate of guarantee to the Oregon Navigation under the joint lease, and a suspicion has been created that the Union Pacific is disposed to utilize the complications of the situation in order to relieve itself of the single responsibility. The Oregon Navigation people claim that the lease to the Oregon Short Line can stand any test in the courts.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

THE ONE-TERM IDEA APPLIED TO POSTMASTERS.

The Fourth Class Offices Being Filled at a Lively Rate—A Novel Proposition from Germany, Etc.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—[By the Associated Press.] One hundred to 150 fourth-class postmasters are being appointed daily. Of these one-third fill vacancies, another third are appointed in the places of postmasters removed for cause, and the other third succeed postmasters who served about four years. While fourth-class postmasters are commissioned during the pleasure of the Postmaster-General, it is believed by the Postoffice Department that good service does not demand retention of postmasters, save in exceptional cases, beyond four years. The good of the service, it is said, will be the first consideration, and there is reason to believe that the commissions of postmasters who have served four years will be deemed to have expired.

PLAN FOR "SEA POSTOFFICES."

Supt. Bell of the Foreign Mails office has received a communication from the postal authorities of Germany recommending the establishment of "Sea Postoffices," for the distribution of German-American mails on shipboard. The Secretary of the Imperial German Postoffice in his communication thinks these sea postoffices could greatly facilitate the work of American exchange offices by distributing mails from Germany for America, during trips from Germany to New York and vice versa for immediate forwarding from terminal points.

MORE NAVAL LESSONS.

English Failures Which Uncle Sam Should Avoid.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—[By the Associated Press.] Recent reports of the maneuvers of the British naval fleet contain some matter not entirely reassuring with respect to some of our new naval vessels. In these maneuvers about six vessels of the Archer type participated. The result was a disagreeable surprise. It was found that their action in a moderately heavy sea was such as to render them very poor gun platforms, to use a technical expression, which means that the guns were so unstable they could not be directed with any approach to accuracy of fire. They were also very wet ships. These defects are supposed to result from the excessive weight of the ordnance, and it was recommended that the six-inch be replaced by five-inch guns and the anchors moved further apart.

The significance of this report to naval officers here lies in the fact that the new gunboat Yorktown is patterned after the Archer and will carry the same calibre and weight of ordnance. Failure has also attended the efforts of British constructors to build a twenty-knot ship, of which the Navy Department here is attempting to build two under direction of the act of Congress. The Medea which was built for a twenty-knot ship, has never exceeded nineteen knots, but has developed more than the estimated horse-power, an indication to constructors here that it is not possible to drive a vessel of that length at twenty knots. The British authorities have taken the same view, and will build another set of these boats of greater length. Other vessels of the same type have failed to develop anything like the necessary 9000-horse-power, so that the promise of success for our boats is not bright.

HELPING THE PRESS.

An Obnoxious Postoffice Rule Ordered Rescinded.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—[By the Associated Press.] The Postoffice Department has rescinded the order issued during the last administration having for its object the discouragement of the practice by train men of carrying special newspaper correspondence and other matter in other than mail trains. It is said at the department that there is a very large number of small towns throughout the country which have meagre telegraphic facilities and in many of these villages the post and telegraph office close early, to prohibit trainmen from carrying to neighboring towns or city small packages containing possibly information of the highest general importance is regarded as unwise and unjust. The newspapers of the country, it is maintained, should receive every possible facility for obtaining and disseminating news of the day, and to this end trainmen will be encouraged to lend aid.

RED CLOUD'S PILGRIMAGE.

He Visits the Great Father for Business and Pleasure.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—[By the Associated Press.] Red Cloud, the big Sioux Indian chief, called on the President this afternoon, accompanied by Agent Jordan of the Rosebud agency. Red Cloud was attired in civilized garb. It is his custom to take a pilgrimage to Washington on the incoming of every new President, and this is the ninth time he has paid his respects to the great father. Red Cloud is in a hurry to secure the payment of $28,000 appropriated by Congress to pay for a lot of ponies which United States troops took away from his band in 1875, when it was feared they were going on the warpath. One of his purposes here is to see if this money cannot be paid to him and his people at once.

WASHINGTON'S RELICS.

An Interesting Collection on Exhibition at New York.

NEW YORK, April 17.—[By the Associated Press.] The loan collection of portraits, relics and silverware of Washington and his time, which will be one of the pleasantest features of the centennial celebration, was opened for exhibition in the rooms of the Metropolitan Opera-house tonight. PARNELL'S SUIT.

The Publication of Forged Letters Its Basis.

LONDON, April 17.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Parnell has engaged Sir Charles Russell, Mr. Asquith and Arthur Russell to conduct the libel suit brought by him against the Times. The trial will take place in London in the autumn. The specific charges against the Times are that it published a fac simile of the letter dated April, 1887, falsely ascribed to Parnell, and other letters, during the trial of O'Donnell vs. Walter, among them the Kilmainham letter, beginning: "Dear E.," which the Times, subsequent to the trial, called genuine.

Parnell will insist that the case be confined to the subject of the issue of the forgeries, and that all questions of a political nature be excluded.

PAVING.

Macadamizing as Practiced in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, April 17.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] One of the products of high civilization is the art of macadamizing, but this art is frequently applied by semi-barbarous methods. It has a science and a literature of its own, the result of which is that if the rock used is the best and is laid in the best manner macadamizing is found to be a sufficient pavement anywhere; but if the material used is less than the best, or if the work is scamped, there is no worse pavement than macadam, is unless it the universally cursed cobblestone. Everything depends upon the specifications and their observance. The British macadamized streets are usually very satisfactory. At the East, wherever good rock is of easy access, macadamizing is fashionable, whether inside or outside of cities. Horses instinctively prefer it to ease their feet, and citizens spin their best turnouts along the macadamized boulevards of New York.

In California the art is less known. All the rock on the San Francisco peninsula is so poor that the cheap and nasty macadan there is beneath contempt. Oakland has tried it for 20 years with better success, and has been regarded until lately as the best paved city in the State. Los Angeles has introduced it on Upper Main street, and the question now is, whether, with or without its extensive use, Los Angeles will make itself the best paved city of California. It behooves us, therefore, to avoid the obvious mistakes that have been made in Oakland. The chief error in Oakland has been the total neglect of sweeping streets. The chain-gang usually, and a small force of free labor sometimes, have scraped some of the principal streets at infrequent intervals, but no sweeping has been done. The family or residence streets have upon their surface accumulations for years of wind-blown sand, mud tracked in from cross-streets, and the débris always found on every style of pavement. People burdened with the curse of hasty judgment called this rock-grindings. If it were, every inch of depth of rock would be ground up in the first year. Upon this mat of stuff, immense quantities of costly water are regularly sprinkled. Seven-eighths of the water is a dead expense, because its only effect is to plaster into a sheet upon the surface the débris that has no business there. The plain remedy, and the one universally successful in well-kept eastern cities, is to sweep all pavements by machinery, and use in watering only a fraction of the water now expensively misapplied. Los Angeles has avoided this ancient blunder of Oakland. Our machine-sweeping is far from perfect, but it is something, and works in the right direction. When it is perfected much less water will be needed for sprinkling.

The Oakland rock is good, but is noticeably inferior to the Los Angeles rock, which is well attested to be the best used anywhere, and is so safely strong that contractors offer a bond to keep it in repair for five years. The Oakland specifications provide a depth of eight inches at the crown and six at the curbs, an average of seven inches. This has been found there to be sufficient for streets of ordinary driving, but an increased depth has not been required hitherto for business streets of heavy traffic. Now, however, Oakland is about to classify the specifications for macadamizing streets, keeping the old depth of rock of residence streets, and increasing it on the chief thoroughfares. The Los Angeles specifications require a heavier depth on all streets. The macadam laid on Upper Main street is of stronger rock and of greater depth than that on the Oakland Broadway, where a heavier traffic wore the streets so little that for the 15 years between 1873 and 1888 it was not renewed at all, and in 1888 only to the extent of a small addition of rock rolled down upon the worn surface. In this respect Los Angeles started with a requirement so high that Oakland is now only catching half way up to it.

In one respect only has Oakland superior requirements over Los Angeles. It has an old ordinance for gas, water and sewer connections in macadamized streets, which is so perfect that, wherever it is observed, such connections do not injure the macadam at all. The secret of its success is that it makes scamping work impossible. It provides that no material taken up shall be removed, sold or given away. It must all go back into the excavation over the pipe, and the surface must then be rolled flush with the street. Of course, this makes faithful tamping and puddling inevitable. It succeeded so well that loosely working contractors hated it. After some years it was forgotten or neglected by incoming city officials, and the old practice of sunken lines in the macadam came in again. If Los Angeles desires macadamized or otherwise paved streets which cannot be injured by after-laying of sewer, gas or water pipes, it has only to pass such an ordinance and enforce its observance more steadily than Oakland has done.

But in spite of inferior rock and less exacting specifications, the Oakland macadam has this significant and incontrovertible majority report—it is laid on 75 miles of streets and all other pavements on only three-fourths of one mile.

Beginning 18 years later than Oakland, Los Angeles started into paving on a far higher plane in the strife for becoming the best paved city in California. In amount of work done it is far behind its rival; in quality of the paving, and especially in its macadamizing, it is already as far ahead. If we stiffly insist on the best material and the best work in macadamizing as in other work, a son of a prophet is not needed to declare Los Angeles to be easily the first of all. In the race "the last shall be first."

The defense is insanity. The Court rules out all affidavits proving former insanity. Dr. Mayes of San Francisco took the stand as an insanity expert for the defense.

The trial came to a sudden stop this afternoon. Dr. Mayes, the expert witness, was on the stand, but refused to answer questions until he got his pay.

The Court sentenced him to jail for six months for contempt. The trial adjourned until tomorrow.

Golden West was on resolution recognized as an organization of the order, and the visiting board was made a permanent institution.

In the report of the Ritual Committee a reward of $500 was offered for any ritual that may be adopted by the Grand Parlor. The committee on districting the State for trustee districts reported in favor of seven districts.

FROM ALASKA.

The Codfish Catch—Two Vessels Go Ashore.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—[By the Associated Press.] The schooner Czar arrived in port today from Pirates Cove and Sanak Island, Alaska. She brings a full load of codfish, and reports the fishing this year unusually good.

From the reports of agents of the McCallan Fishing Company it is learned that in February the Alaska Commercial Company's schooner Onward went ashore at Unga and will prove a total loss. The crew was saved.

The schooner Island Belle, belonging to Lynde and Hough of this city, went ashore at the same place last November, and was on the rocks three weeks before she was got off and repaired.

An Editor's Slight Mistake.

[Nebraska State Journal.]

"Our heart is heavy today," wrote the editor of the Purple Springs Enunciator. "George J. Sebastopol, whom we have long known and admired, is dead. In the flush and glory of his manhood, when the future seemed as resplendent as an angel's dream, the rain of death came sobbing to the doorway of his brilliant career, and the Phantom Boatman ferried him across the black river. Poor George! This day there will be weeping in the little home on the hill, where a gray-haired mother kisses the cold brow of her lost one; where a weeping wife bends over the still form and fondles the dear hands that were wont to lovingly caress her; where beautiful children try in vain to coax from the dumb lips a loving word—from whence loving words were as a river. It is hard that the misty twilight of death should so soon blot out the golden glow of the morning; it is hard that the anthem should be broken by a sob, that the dirge may be commenced; it is hard that the dead blades of the grave grass should quiver over feet that should for years press the green verdure of the summer. Poor George! Generous, noble and honest; charitable, affectionate and true; a sunbeam in the gloom of humanity; a beacon gleaming in the blackness of this world. Not alone will your wife and mother weep over your grave; scores who have loved and known you will kneel by your last resting place in the solemn twilight, and their tears will tell heaven how they miss you.

"LATER.—Our information concerning the death of Mr. Sebastapol was wrong. He was alive and enjoying excellent health. We hope that George will at once call at this office and pay $3 due us on subscription. His account has been running for two years, and as we are greatly in need of money, he will oblige us by making a prompt remittance."

ORANGE LAND.

NO EXPERIMENT.

A company of Chicago, Los Angeles and Riverside capitalists are now planting out a choice strip of land in the Santa Clara Valley with orange trees. This land is located at "Sespe," fifty-four (54) miles from Los Angeles, on the Southern Pacific Railroad. The soil, climate and surroundings approach nearer to the famous Riverside orange tract than any other portion of the State.

The trees now there bearing fruit are clean, free from all insect pests, and their fruit perfect in every particular.

There are still one hundred acres of choice orange land that will be sold at one-half the schedule price, and trees furnished at cost for planting out. Arrangements can be made to have them cared for at actual cost till the bearing period.

This opportunity is open till the trees are all planted. After that the land will be held at schedule price and the value of trees added.

Terms of payment are very liberal. So favorable an opportunity of owning a choice orange grove at a low price, in a good neighborhood, cannot be met with every day. The man who decides quickly will get the best.

A WEIRD ROMANCE.

AS SPUN BY A YOUNG WOMAN OF LOS ANGELES.

Abducted at the Age of Three and Brought Up as a Circus Girl—The Idol of the Ring as "Benita, the Little Wonder."

Some strange romances come to light in Los Angeles, and the record of checkered careers is a continually and rapidly-increasing one. There is a young woman now living on Main street who can claim with an excellent show of winning to have beaten the record. The story of her life is a fascinating one, and so strange as to be almost regarded as a fairy tale were it not for convincing proof that it is true. The name of the heroine of the story is Miss Mattie Price, and while only 25 years old she has had a career that would furnish material for a dozen realistic novels. It should have turned her hair gray and dimmed the brilliancy of her eyes, but it must be confessed that time and trouble have dealt lightly with her. She is a compactly-built, graceful woman, has blue eyes and dark eyebrows, and hair that would be glossy black were it not for the art of a hair-dresser who has bleached it to a golden hue. Her head is well shaped, and is a remarkably well-informed head to be on such young shoulders. The head is usually adorned by a black Tam o' Shanter hat when its owner takes a walk on the streets. Added to the attractive appearance of the young woman, she is gifted with a voice, which, while not as strong as it was once, is very sweet and well trained. She lives in a small room in a quiet and secluded block, and has been trying to fight against a decline in health, due, no doubt, to the trying experiences through which she has gone. Slight and willowy as her figure is, there is an elasticity and spring about her carriage which betoken a long course of training; and while her hand is small and prettily shaped, it has a touch of steel in its grasp as well as of velvet. The remarkable incidents of her life cannot be given in full, but only touched upon in a brief way.

About 10 years ago Miss Price was known as "Benita," and another name by which she was known in the circus world was "The Little Wonder." She was then traveling about the country with Adam Forepaugh's show. She was then only 15 years old, and had been riding for several years. She was a waif who had been with Forepaugh since she was 3 years old, and had been trained from her earliest infancy in riding. Her first recollections were of the circus ring and horses, and of the training through which her little limbs were made so flexible that it was marvelous what feats she could perform. She was the idol of the performers, and became devotedly attached to the horses she rode. Often she was found curled up in the curve of the neck of a sleeping horse, resting peacefully with her head upon the animal. When she was large enough she became one of the attractions of the circus world. She rode bareback, never having been allowed to ride upon a pad. The life of the little sprite went on in this manner until she was 15 years old. She traveled all over this country and went four times to Europe. In a performance at Brooklyn one night while turning a somersault to alight upon the shoulders of her fellow performer, both being on horseback, she missed her footing and fell. She crashed to the ground and was sadly injured.

Her back was hurt and several ribs broken. After suffering for several months she recovered, but never to return to the ring, except upon one occasion in New York. At that time the Forepaugh and Barnum shows were consolidated, and "Benita" rode as a jockey in the hippodrome races. Forepaugh, or "Daddy," as she called him, told her to ride to win. She was in boy's clothes and was laughed at by the other equestriennes because she was so little. But she won. The races then were scenes of wild excitement, and much money changed hands on the result. In the hurdle race a woman, furious at the boy, as "Benita" was thought to be, struck her horse and tried to beat her over a hurdle against the rules. The horse stumbled and down the woman went, her horse rolling over her and crushing her, inflicting injuries from which she never recovered.

But eventful as was the circus career of the little girl, the events which soon followed and by which she found her parents, add to the interest of the story. While in Philadelphia Miss Price heard some of the showmen talking about her parentage, and wondering how the little waif came to be brought up as she had been. They spoke about some people who had attended the circus, and one lady whose resemblance to her had attracted their attention. Miss Price hunted these people up, and found that their name was Stinsman, and that they were a wealthy family in the Quaker City. The result of a call on the lady was the discovery that Mrs. Stinsman was her aunt. The recognition was made by the discovery of a peculiar white spot on the neck of the girl. From Philadelphia she went with her aunt to Boston and was returned to her father, Matthew Price, a wealthy business man of Boston. The mystery of her birth was cleared up, and she lived with her father and stepmother. Her mother had been murdered, and the murderer was the cause of the singular misfortunes of the girl.

Before Matthew Price married he had as a rival a man named Judson, who was furious when Price won the prize and he swore to be revenged. His revenge was diabolical.

Some months after the birth of Miss Price he caused her to be abducted from her home, and took her south to New Orleans, where an old colored woman was her nurse. Here she lived until, to complete his revenge, Judson had the child turned over to Forepaugh, as an orphan, who might be trained to a circus life.

The parents were frantic over their loss, and searched high and low, but without satisfying their quest.

Then Judson began a systematic course of scheming to separate Price and his wife. His plans were eventually successful, and Price, believing his wife unfaithful, separated from her. Judson, however, became so enraged at Mrs. Price because she rejected his advances after the separation, that one evening, meeting her as she was making a call at a friend's house, he shot her and beat her over the head with the revolver. The poor woman died, and Judson was tried and convicted.

After Miss Price had lived with her parents for several months, and was 16 years old, she became attached to a [illegible], whom she married against the wishes of her father. Their married life was quite happy for two years, when she discovered that he had a wife and children living at Kansas City. She became so attached to her [illegible] she went crazy and [illegible] many experiences then went on the stage and sang in opera. Her voice was a sweet and powerful one, which gave way after a while, and she left the stage. But she subsequently sang for a livelihood in some of the churches in Philadelphia. She drifted finally to Los Angeles.

The marriage which she made has estranged her from her family, her stepmother letting her know that they considered she had disgraced them.

She has had a struggle with abject poverty since her arrival in the city, and has eked out an existence by acting as nurse and performing such light tasks as she is capable of. The half of the world, which does not know how the other half lives, does not care, and her life with its strange episodes may only excite in them a belief that it is all a fairy tale.

Does It Pay?

Three-fourths of our people are troubled with dyspepsia or liver complaint in some form or other, which by nature of the disease has a depressing influence on the mind or body, preventing them from thinking or acting clearly in any matter of importance. Indigestion, coming up of food after eating, dyspepsia, sick headache, acidity of the stomach or any derangement of the stomach or liver (upon which the whole action of our system depends) are speedily and effectually overcome by the use of Green's August Flower. The most stubborn cases have yielded to its influence, as thousands of letters received will testify. The immense sale of this medicine is another guarantee of its merits (over a million and a half bottles sold last year). So we ask, will it pay you to suffer from any of the above diseases when you can have immediate relief in the August Flower? Three doses will prove its worth. It is sold by all druggists and general dealers in the world.

BUSINESS.

Money, Stocks and Bonds.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Money on call easy at 2@3 per cent.

Prime mercantile paper, 4½@6.

Sterling exchange, dull but firm at 4.86¾ for 60-day bills; 4.88¾ for demand.

Government bonds, dull but strong.

American cotton-seed oil, 56¼.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The stock market was a little more active today than yesterday, but there was a smaller number of stocks traded in, and the increase was confined to a few of the leading shares. The opening prices were steady, but there was considerable pressure upon grangers, and Burlington and Rock Island led the fractional downward movement, which occupied almost all of the first hour. Oregon shares continued the denial of reports, and there remains a suspicion that something is wrong, and they all sold at lower figures than for some time. There was a better tone to dealings late in the day, but no marked recoveries were made except in Navigation and Short Line, and all active stocks moved over the same narrow range. The close was dull but firm and generally at small fractions under the opening figures in the unlisted departments. Sugar Trusts were remarkably weak, and dropped 3 per cent, to 93¼.

PASADENA NEWS.

THE COUNCIL BUY A LOT AND BUILDING.

Proceedings of the Council Meeting—Leading Topics—Remanded to Jail—Here and There—Local and Personal Mention.

PASADENA, April 17.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] The City Council met in adjourned session in the Council chamber at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Present, Councilmen Throop, McLean, Townsend, and President Parker. The minutes of last Saturday's session were read and approved.

A large number of bills were referred to the Committee on Auditing and Finance. Another batch was ordered paid.

The Committee on Fire and Water reported through Councilman Throop that it recommended all the bids for the sale of a lot for fire engine purposes be rejected. Furthermore, recommending the purchase of a lot on Union street, the property of G. A. Swartout, at a cost of $9000, together with a two-story brick building situated on the alley in the rear of the Carlton Hotel, payment to be made in city bonds. The report was received and the recommendations adopted.

It was moved and carried that only city officials be allowed the use of the telephone now in the Marshal's office.

It was moved and supported that the president of the board be authorized to contract for the sale of $8000 of sewer bonds to the Pasadena Hardware Company in exchange for indebtedness of the city to the said corporation.

It was moved an adjournment be taken until Saturday morning.

SENT BACK TO JAIL.

Meyers and Guy, two desperate-looking characters, who were held in the County Jail pending an examination for robbery and petty thievery, were brought up to this city this afternoon from Los Angeles and given a hearing on the above charges. The prisoners admitted they had entered three houses in the vicinity, and at one place had stolen a watch, which was subsequently identified as being the property of C. H. Frost. They also confessed to having entered the houses of gentlemen by the names of Campbell and Webster. These characters were run down by detectives in Los Angeles on descriptions furnished by Marshal McLean. The prisoners were committed to the County Jail in default of bail. Constable Slater took the couple down on the late afternoon train. The arrest of these men is a blessing to the community, as no less than thirty cases of larceny have been reported in the past ten weeks, and in their confession they admitted they were old hands at the business.

LEADING TOPICS.

At the session of the Council this afternoon, Councilman Throop, speaking of the purchase of the building for city purposes in the rear of the Carlton, said that in this particular locality everything was convenient for a department for fire engine purposes, a jail for the use of prisoners and if necessary a meeting room for the Council. It will in all probability be purchased.

All leading citizens and others who have the welfare of the city at heart are requested to meet in the Board of Trade rooms tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The care and disposition of the fruits grown hereabouts and the establishment of a cannery are some of the topics to be discussed. Judge Magee, the originator of the enterprise, is confident the project will be undertaken, and if a substantial structure cannot be erected the offer of the Fruit Crystallizing Company be accepted.

HERE AND THERE.

The North Pasadena Literary Society, at its next meeting in the hall in that suburbs will discuss the life and deeds of George Washington.

The New England Society will hold its annual picnic at Arroyo Park, on Saturday. The commemoration of the events connected with the battle of Lexington will not be left to go unremembered. A special car leaves Raymond avenue and Colorado street at 10 o'clock. Lunch baskets well filled are urged to be present, as well as New Englanders.

The Union and the Star are now engaged in a petty warfare as to which has the better right to survive in these "dull" times. It is to be a case of the survival of the fittest.

Mr. Ballytine, the gentleman who appeared before the Board of Trade yesterday to interest that body in taking hold of his sewing machine head factory, represents a company with a capital of $5,000,000. He says he means business.

PERSONAL.

J. P. Woodbury leaves tomorrow for a trip to San Francisco.

G. G. Green and family, who have been spending the winter at their elegant home in Altadena, leave on their private car for San Francisco tomorrow en route for their home at Woodbury, N. J.

Daniel L. Crean, private secretary to G. G. Green, leaves for the East tomorrow. Mr. Crean has made many warm friends during his short stay hereabouts.

And all the various diseases of the Head, Throat and Chest.

Together with diseases of the Eye, Ear and Heart, also diseases of females, successfully treated by

M. HILTON WILLIAMS,

M. D., M. C. P. S. O.,

Office, Hollenbeck Block, corner Second and Spring streets, Los Angeles, Cal.

All diseases of the respiratory organs treated by the most improved medical inhalations and the Compound Oxygen treatment, which has such a world-wide reputation in lung and nervous affections.

We take pleasure in announcing to the public that we combine the Compound Oxygen Treatment with our system of practice in the cure of asthma, bronchitis, consumption, dyspepsia, insomnia, sore throat, catarrh, rheumatism and nervous prostration.

The testimonials given below are very fair samples as to the time required for effecting cures in these troublesome cases:

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Nov. 14, 1888.

This is to certify that I had been afflicted with asthma and emphysima of the lungs for about 24 years. My disease was contracted in the army. I had tried almost every known remedy, both here and in the East, but nothing ever gave me permanent relief until I tried Dr. Williams's Compound Oxygen and other remedies. It is only about one month since I began the treatment, and already I feel like another man. I was so bad that for days I could hardly breathe, but I do positively feel that I am cured. The difficulty of breathing has been entirely removed, and I feel as well as I ever did in every respect.

JOHN W. HOIT,
Employe City Water Works,
255 Bellevue Avenue, Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 16, 1888.

It is a source of gratification to me to be able to testify to the very satisfactory cure Dr. M. Hilton Williams has effected in my case with his Compound Oxygen and other inhalations. After suffering several years with catarrh of the head and throat also bronchitis, which caused a very aggravating cough, I applied to Dr. Williams, who effected an entire cure in just two months from the time I began the treatment. I take pleasure in recommending Dr. Williams as a Christian gentleman and a conscientious and skillful physician, whose cures seem almost marvelous in cases of consumption, asthma, bronchitis and catarrh.

MRS. L. A. THURSTON,
142 Temple st., Los Angeles, Cal.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success. The very best references from those already cured.

CONSULTATION FREE.

Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call at my office for consultation and examination, but, if impossible to do so, can write for a copy of my Medical Treatise, containing a list of questions. Address
